PROPOSES LESS

STRINGENT EMBARGO

Ruthless System of Placing Embargoes on Certain Products Works Hardship.

(International News Service.)
Washington, June 25.—The United States is now making an exhaustive study of the effect produced on foreign exchange by a ruthless system of placing embargoes on certain products.

Known today, and arrangements are going forward between the war trade board and the treasury that will tend to act favorably on exchange through the operation of a less stringent embargo program.

Officials have pointed out that certain products, such as tin, lead, copper and numerous other metals and commodities, should be rightfully embargoed, but that the order should not be too comprehensive in its interpretation. The exchange problem is undergoing rapid changes, and the principal factor in adjusting it favorably to the United States is the establishment in foreign countries of trade balances favorable to American merchants and manufacturers. By the operation of an absolute embargo on certain metals it was found that many manufactured products which sell for large sums and which have a ready market abroad could not be exported because they contained small quantities of the embargoed products, such as tin or lead or copper.

Treasury officials have been impressed with the system that prevents extension of a favorable trade balance simply because a few ounces of embargoed material has the power to withhold the export of large quantities of articles that could be sold abroad. It was pointed out by one official that one ton of tin was the approximate amount used in the manufacture of certain kinds of dental products in a year; that if this ton of tin could be released, it would be a comparatively small item in the country's supply of the metal, yet would be instrumental in swelling the favorable trade balance about $5,000,000 higher, through the export of the product in which it was used. The same was true of pianos, in which certain metals are used in small quantities, yet the sale of the products would more than compensate for the small amount of embargoed material used, because of its favorable reaction on the rate of exchange.

The adoption of a more elastic embargo system today was looked upon as a certain, and plans were being discussed that will cover all export products from this country.

Scoreboard Reflections

Lurid Lines.

There was an old timer named Hyatt, Who was usually docile and quiet, But an umpire named Lynch Called him out in a pinch, And that was the cause of the riot.

Detroit unravelled the White Sox again, winning with an eighth-inning rally. Cunningham outpitched Russell and Danforth.

Grimm, of the Cardinals, was the only St. Louisian to reach second base in the game with the Cubs. He hit a two-bagger.

The Cubs are teaching the Giants how to inhale heel dust. Four hits all the Braves managed to pluck off Ted Perritt. Extra base hits by Fletcher, Burns and Thorpe defeated the Stallingsites.

Jack Coombs held Philadelphia to one run and two hits in eight innings, but wilted in the ninth and the Dodgers swallowed defeat.

Ham Hyatt made his first appearance with the Yankees as a pinch hitter, but proved to be only a pinch batter.

The Red Sox got even for the licking they took in the first game at the Polo grounds. Ruth's homer scored Whitman ahead of him. It was his ninth this season.

The Indians won and lost in their double bill with the Browns by scores of 7-3.

The Dodgers have purchased pitcher Dick Robertson from New Orleans. Rumor says Newark club will disband after July fourth.

TURKS TIRED OF WAR, DEAF TO GERMANY
(Copyright, 1918, by The New York World.)

Paris.—News from Constantinople just to hand reveals the fact that the Turks, tired of war, show very little inclination to take Germany's advice to watch events in Mesopotamia.

The same letters give examples of the extremely high cost of living there. Butter sells at $7 a pound, soap $5 a pound, the cheapest hat for a woman costs $100 and a pair of boots fetched $60.

The famous Orient Club at Pera is much frequented. There German counts and Austrian barons are continually playing cards with one-time dissonant Turks, who now
